Detailed Action

Reopening of Prosecution After Appeal

In view of the appeal brief filed on July 20, 2005, PROSECUTION IS HEREBY REOPENED. New grounds of rejection are set forth below.

To avoid abandonment of the application, appellant must exercise one of the following two options:

- (1) file a reply under 37 CFR 1.111 (if this Office action is non-final) or a reply under 37 CFR 1.113 (if this Office action is final); or,
- (2) request reinstatement of the appeal.

If reinstatement of the appeal is requested, such request must be accompanied by a supplemental appeal brief, but no new amendments, affidavits (37 CFR 1.130, 1.131 or 1.132) or other evidence are permitted. See 37 CFR 1.193(b)(2).

Claim Objections

Claims 3, 4, 7, 8 and 12 are objected to because of the following informalities:

- Http is hypertext transfer protocol not, hypertext transmission protocol.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

Art Unit: 2145

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-2, 5-6, 9-11 and 13-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. It is unclear what an object is, is it a data structure of some form or packet or file, a definition could not be found.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Challenger et al (US Pat No: 6,256,712), hereafter referred to as Challenger.

1. With regards to claims 1, 5, 9 and 11, teaches in a communication server, a method of responding to a client application, the method comprising the steps of: a cache disposed in an operating system kernel; receiving from the client application an application protocol request corresponding to a response that can be displayed as a combination of a dynamic protocol object and a static protocol object; creating at the server the dynamic protocol object; sending the dynamic protocol object to the client application; retrieving the static protocol object from a cache disposed in an operating system kernel; and sending the static protocol object to the client application (Challenger discloses a design enabling the updating content within a server so that updated content is submitted to the client. The design allows for current copies of both dynamic and static data (objects) to be cached within the server (column 2, lines 5-8, Challenger). The cached data (objects) is consistently updated (column 2, lines 54-55, Challenger). When required, the data (objects) are dynamically rebuild the objects and provide the client with updated content (column 2, line 53 – column 3, line 34, Challenger)).
2. With regards to claims 2, 6, 10, 13 and 14, teaches the method wherein the cache disposed within the operating system kernel is a protocol object cache (Challenger's design allows for caches (column 2, lines 5-8, Challenger) (column 5, lines 51-52, Challenger)).

Art Unit: 2145

3. With regards to claims 3, 4, 7, 8 and 12, teaches the method wherein the application protocol request and the reply are formatted according to a hypertext transmission protocol (HTTP) (Challenger's design allows for HTTPD (Figure 30A, Challenger). Hence, HTTP is supported).

Remarks

In response to the correspondence received on July 20, 2005, the case has been reevaluated and prosecution has been reopened. The claims received February 14, 2005 have been reexamined and a new search has been performed. The following office action has been composed with the application of new prior art in effort to provide a more compelling case as to the lack of novelty regarding the claimed invention, as currently presented.
